Many will talk convincingly with a witness who is excited, agitated, or in a state of shock. This is usually something that is said immediately after the event, and it is often the only statement that is made. The witness is usually not aware of the fact that they are making a statement, and they are often in a state of shock or confusion. This is why it is important to get the statement as soon as possible, and to get it in a format that is easy to use in court.
